RESEARCH	Exploring the Association of Diabetes Mellitus with Periodontal Health and Xerostomia. My dissertation on "Exploring the Association of Diabetes Mellitus with Periodontal Health and Xerostomia" was to perform a literature review of what has been published on this topic by accredited scholars and researches. The body of the English language literature was identified both manually and electronically through the use of a comprehensive Medline, pubmed and Embase search. I reviewed the literature currently available on the topic of the dissertation and further investigated: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> The association between D.M. and periodontal diseases. Whether periodontal therapy has appositive effect on the level of glycemic control. If there is an association between D.M. and xerostomia as well as salivary function. This dissertation was a partial fulfillment for the degree of masters of Science in Dental Public Health. It was undertaken under the supervision of Dr. George Tsakos, Professor Richard watt and Professor Aubrey Sheiham. Combination Technique Using Conscious Sedation and Dental Laser as an Alternative to General Anesthesia For Endodontic Procedure on an ADHD Co-Morbid epileptic Patient. International Journal of Dental Case Reports. Evaluation of Dental Assistant Awareness Concerning Infection Control Policy of Blood Bourne Diseases. Journal of International Dental and Medical Research Knowledge, attitude and practices towards preventive dental care among patients attending University Dental Hospital: Sharjah-UAE. Ongoing research
